

A historical black and white photograph of a street scene in Bern, Switzerland. The image shows a wide street with tram tracks. A vintage tram is moving along the tracks. In the background, there is a large, ornate building with two prominent domes and classical architectural details. People are walking on the sidewalks and crossing the street. The overall atmosphere is that of a busy urban environment from the early 20th century.

Thomas Blubacher

Die Kunst geht nach Brot

100 JAHRE SCHWEIZERISCHER
BÜHNENKÜNSTLERVERBAND

CHRONOS